The initiative delivers on the main question or problem posed via systematic and clearly articulated processes of research, investigation and implementation practices. Any challenges encountered and the measures taken to overcome these are presented.	Recommended solution is emerging as the initiative is rolling out or being developed further. Analysis may be partially conducted and constraints may not yet be fully understood. Budget for the initiative may be requested or in the process of being allocated. Challenges to the initiative may be foreseen but not yet fully realised.	Recommended solution does not appear to deliver on the stated purpose. There may be little evidence of analysis or such analysis may be underway. The processes of research, investigation and implementation may be defined but not at a level which would allow delivery.
